1 GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS GOVERNING YOUR STAY

WELCOME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF LIÈGE (ULg)

PRACTICAL STUDY PLACEMENT OR RESEARCH STAY: KEY STEPS If you are looking to complete a practical placement as part of your course, undertake a specialisation placement or conduct a research project as a visitor at ULg, then this handbook is for you.

It sets out the procedures you will need to need to follow during your stay at ULg.

All visitors at the University of Liège are supervised or invited by a "promoteur", that means a supervisor (academic staff member, permanent scientific researcher or permanent F.S.R.-FNRS agent). You must receive written consent from the supervisor.

You will then need to complete the following formalities:

- Complete the ULg visitor registration procedure: get in touch with the relevant contact person, depending on your status at ULg (see diagram on page 7).
- Sign an agreement between yourself, your home institution and ULg, setting out the arrangements of your stay. This agreement will govern the following aspects in particular:
  - the duration of your stay
  - the respective rights and duties of each party
  - confidentiality
  - intellectual property
  - liability and insurance cover.

Then:

- Before your departure, you will receive a letter of invitation/acceptance from ULg. In certain cases, you may need to show this letter to the consulate/embassy to obtain a visa to enter Belgium.
- Upon your arrival at ULg, you will be "registered". Depending on your status, this will entitle you to Wi-Fi access, a student or visiting researcher card, access to the university library and online documentation, and access to the premises.

In terms of insurance, you will need to be covered by your home institution, or by the body funding your stay. Failing that, a standard insurance coverage may be made available to you.

The practical arrangements covered in the remainder of this handbook are dependent on your status at ULg. See below for details of the specific procedures that concern you.

You will need to follow these procedures to ensure that your time at ULg runs smoothly, working closely with the supervisor organising your stay.

For details of the administrative formalities, please refer to the relevant pages of this handbook, depending on your status (see diagram on page 7). The health insurance coverage procedures will be explained to you on arrival at ULg. Where necessary, you can find accommodation details on the Accommodation Service pages of the website. In conclusion: these formalities are mandatory. They are also beneficial to you, giving you:

- support for your visa application
- dedicated, personal assistance upon arrival
- access codes for the Wi-Fi network, online portal and online documentation
- enrolment/registration card
- all the documents you will need for your stay (residence card, health insurance, etc.)
- some insurance cover for your stay.

2 STAY TERMS AND CONDITIONS AND CODE OF CONDUCT FOR VISITORS

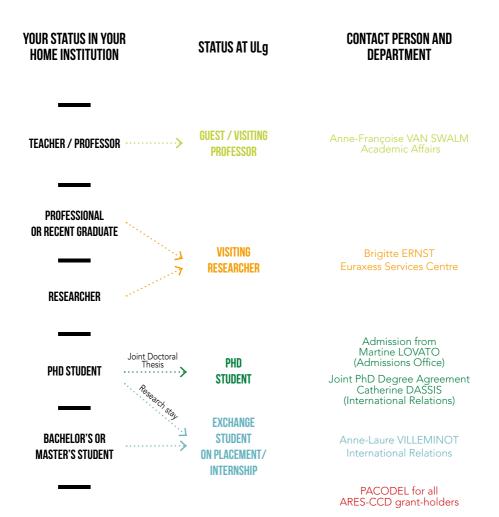

During your stay at ULg, you must comply with the terms of the agreement that you signed with ULg, as well as all applicable laws and regulations (intellectual property, health and safety rules, see: health and safety in the workplace and physical radiation control, infrastructure and equipment instructions, scientific integrity, etc.). Where applicable, you must also comply with specific stay regulations applied by the Faculty to which you are connected.

Additional procedures relating to your stay will be discussed and agreed with your supervisor, including:

- Safety instructions
- Infrastructure and equipment instructions (building access, etc.)
- Stay reporting and/or assessment procedures (where applicable).

Please make sure to discuss these specific points with your supervisor.

YOUR STATUS IN YOUR HOME INSTITUTION

YOUR STATUS AT ULg

GUEST PROFESSOR

The Board of Directors (B.D.) may, following a proposal from the Faculty, bestow the honorary title of «Guest Professor» on any person engaged in teaching activities who meets the following criteria:

- The honorary title of Guest Lecturer or Guest Professor is reserved for teaching staff from other universities in Belgium or abroad, or from other equivalent institutions, and for members of the university's teaching staff who have retired and have received permission to continue teaching.
- "Invited" titles may also be bestowed, on a personal basis, to individuals who are not members of the scientific staff body or F.S.R.-FNRS* agents, are attached to the university, hold a PhD, or have previously received authorisation to teach in higher education.

Each Faculty shall, in line with the above requirements, implement its own set of rules governing the award of these honorary titles.

The person having received the honorary title may use such title throughout the academic year(s) covered by his/her engagement. The person may not use the academic title «Lecturer» or «Professor». In accordance with the B.D. resolutions of July and September 1998, holders of honorary titles do not receive remuneration, but may receive compensation for travel expenses.

Each Faculty may propose up to six individuals for such titles each year. The Faculty must submit a detailed proposal, with relevant evidence, for each person concerned.

Guest Professors will be required to sign a tripartite agreement with the home institution and ULg.

At his/her request, the Guest Professor may be granted Visiting Researcher status (see page 9).

PHD STUDENT (JOINT PHD)

WHAT IS A JOINT PHD?

The joint PhD is designed to encourage international mobility among PhD students, to contribute to the development of scientific cooperation between researchers, and to establish partnership agreements with foreign higher education institutions.

The research and thesis preparation work will be carried out in both institutions, during successive periods, determined by both supervisors with the approval of the PhD student.

ADMISSION AND REGISTRATION PROCEDURE

There are two separate procedures:

- 1) Admission and/or registration at ULg
- 2) Drafting and signing of the joint PhD agreement
- NB: The student must also be formally registered with a partner institution. He/she is responsible for obtaining information about the relevant procedures within such institution.

Before the joint PhD agreement is drafted, the student must satisfy the admission criteria for the PhD degree concerned.

 The student must contact his/her supervisor and the relevant doctoral school. Foreign students (both EU and non-EU citizens) must then complete the relevant admission forms.

For more information, visit the website of the Admissions Service.

The PhD admission procedure is dependent on the rules and regulations in force within each partner institution. The student must have received the consent of the relevant authorities within each institution.

Once he/she has obtained the necessary documentation, the student must attend the Admissions Service in person.

TUITION FEES

The student must remain a registered member of both institutions throughout the entire period of his/her studies, but may be exempted from paying tuition fees at one of the institutions.

However, in order to obtain a PhD degree from the French Community of Belgium, the student must pay full tuition fees to ULg at the point of initial registration. The student must also pay the relevant administrative and insurance fees for each year.

DEGREE AWARD

Both institutions will award a PhD degree to the student, in line with the applicable rules and regulations. This degree may be awarded in the form of a single degree or a dual-award degree.

JOINT PHD AGREEMENT

The joint PhD agreement template is available here: "Joint PhD Degree Agreement" template

NB: This is the international joint PhD agreement.

Important: The joint PhD document must be completed ELECTRONICALLY and returned to the contact person listed below for approval. There is no need to print out the document and submit it in hard-copy format.

ULg may agree to work with the partner institution's agreement, provided that this agreement complies with the statutory obligations and regulations applicable to ULg, and in particular the rules relating to the composition of the jury (minimum of 5 members).
